This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and small dark spots, possibly due to age or handling. The left edge of the page shows the binding of the book, and the overall tone is a warm, off-white or light beige.

1. The first group of variables is the "control" group, which includes variables that are expected to influence the dependent variable but are not the primary focus of the study. These variables are typically included to account for potential confounding factors. For example, in a study on the effect of a new drug on blood pressure, the control group might include variables such as age, gender, and baseline blood pressure.
